HISTORY

The spot where Charlie's is located has been serving the south side neighborhood of Terre Haute since the early 30's. Whether as a grocery store as it first started or as today's Pub & Grub, it has become a tradition in the community. In 1972, when Morris and Betty Tweety sold the tavern to Charlie and Lois Crispin, Charlie started serving the "Tweety Burger" to honor Morris, the tradition continues today.

For 20 years, Charlie and Lois ran Charlie's Hide-a-way until they sold it to Kevin and Gail O'Laughlin in 1992. To honor Charlie, the name stayed the same—but Charlie's was no longer hiding. After 22 great years, Kevin and Gail sold Charlie's in 2014 to Cheyne and Nikki O'Laughlin. Improvements to the location have secured the business and the tradition to last for another generation. We are proud of our neighborhood location and will stay true to what we are and what we offer—your neighborhood pub & grub.
